Kieran, 12, received the thumbs up from Simon Cowell for his drum performance in Britain's Got Talent

■ BY MARIJKE COX

A YOUNGSTER from Deal has faced the most fearsome man in music in the second round of ITV's Britain's Got Talent.

Kieran Gaffney, 12, of Clarence Place, took to the stage in Birmingham on Saturday, and performed a drum solo in front of judges Piers Morgan, Amanda Holden and hard-to-please music mogul Simon Cowell, himself a former pupil at Dover College.

The Walmer Science College pupil impressed all the judges who all said 'yes', making it through to the next round. He also amazed the crowd who gave him a standing ovation.

Kieran has been playing the drums since 2006, and after wowing crowds at a number of gigs when he was invited to go up and play, his parents decided to sign him up for the hit show.

Dad Sean said: "Kieran's been brought up with music. We're a musical family – my wife and I have been a duo for 18 years.

"He's got natural talent. We bought him a drum kit and he took to it like a duck to water."

Sean and wife Mandy were so impressed by their son's drumming he now forms part of their musical group Mixed Emotions, playing gigs around Kent.

Sean said: "My wife applied for Kieran to go on Britain's Got Talent, but we didn't think much of it until he got an audition in Birmingham last October. This was in front of a producer, when they decide who is going to take part in the actual show.

"We got a phone call a week before Christmas saying that Kieran had got through."

Show off your art at creative event

PEOPLE in Kent are being asked to nominate their favourite piece of art at a special creative event.

Dover district residents are being encouraged by Kent County Council to get involved and professional artists are urged to submit work completed between April 1, 2007, and March 31, 2009.

The town is known for its creative side, with Dover Arts Development carrying out art projects around the district and the new Charlton Art Centre, which opened last year.

A sculpture exhibition was also held at The Salutation Gardens in Sandwich where artist showed off their skills to members of the public, like Gilbert Whyman's lifesize sculpture Conspirator.

To be nominated the art work must be in a public space where people can view it.

The judging panel will be chaired by Janet Street-Porter, writer and broadcaster, and the winner will walk away with £15,000, funded by Liberty Property Trust UK.

Council housing chiefs offer cold comfort for mum to be

■ BY MARIJKE COX

AN EXPECTANT mother from Dover has been told she is not a priority for council housing despite living in temperatures below ten degrees.

Juli Jackson, 28, lives with her husband John, 40, in a downstairs flat in Elvington, where they moved eight months ago, just as she fell pregnant.

But where most couples are eagerly awaiting the birth as the due date nears, Mr and Mrs Jackson are hoping the baby can wait until they are placed in a new home.

The flat they currently live in, which is owned by a private landlord, has heating problems where the living room is just 15 degrees - with electric heaters on.

The bedroom is just eight degrees at night, with damp and mould surrounding the window and on the walls.

Mr Jackson said: "We've applied to Dover District Council for housing on three occasions. We're on the list, but we need to move now.

"We also applied for Single Agency Assessment, which is used when someone needs re-housing if there's a risk to health, but this has so far been disregarded and we've been told we are low priority.

"Our landlord has been really helpful, but we need to move to another flat."

A midwife at the East Kent Hospitals NHS Trust even wrote to the council stating: "This is clearly not suitable accommodation for any family and even less so for a newborn baby."

Stress

She asked that the council review the situation, listing problems including damp walls and mouldy furniture and temperatures that fail to rise above 16 degrees.

In medical records the midwife also stated how the baby temporarily stopped growing due to the stress of the situation.

Mrs Jackson said: "When our baby boy is born we'll have to take turns sleeping on the sofa in the living room with the cot as it's the warmest place.

"We can't have him in the bedroom - it gets as cold as eight degrees at night."

The tearful mum-to-be also explained how many of the baby's new clothes have had to be thrown out as they were covered in mould.

"I don't care where we go, we just don't want to bring our baby here. He could come at any time - I'm a bag of nerves."

In an attempt to help the couple, the council sent an environmental health officer, but failed to tell them he was coming round.

Mr Jackson said: "We were out and he didn't leave a calling card. The second time they wanted to come Juli was having an antenatal check up.

"We were basically told we hadn't allowed the council access to the property, but this wasn't the case at all."

The couple are now desperately hoping they can be housed before their baby is born.

A council spokesman said: "We are aware of the circumstances in this matter, and have agreed a course of action with the family to address these issues.

"All families seeking council housing can bid for council properties, which are allocated fairly and appropriately through the Kent Home Choice Scheme."

Town to show Olympic action on big screen

DOVER could have a permanent LED screen put up in the Market Square for the 2012 Olympics.

The district council is currently in talks with Kent County Council and the London Organising Committee for the Olympic Games (LOCOG) to look at issues surrounding planning permission for a live site in the town.

LOCOG approached Dover District

Council with the opportunity to provide a screen in the town centre where people can watch London 2012 live, although a final decision has not yet been made.

Dover is the first place to be chosen that is not a city and one of only 20 sites selected so far across the country.

A spokesperson at DDC said: "This comes as a range of partners continue to work together for a world class future for the district, including the Kent Campaign, to welcome the Olympic torch into the UK through Dover.

"It is stressed that no final decisions have been taken on this matter and any progress is subject to the submission and approval of an appropriate planning application."

Anglers cast doubts over harbour board

■ BY MARIJKE COX

SEA anglers across the country fear it could be the end of the line as the European Union plans to limit the amount of fish they can catch.

But in Dover, anglers believe the threat to recreational fishing is caused by an authority a little closer to home.

Allan Edgington, 78, trustee and senior committee member of the Dover Sea Angling Association, said Dover Harbour Board is their biggest problem.

He said: "They own Admiralty Pier and the breakwater, so they can restrict its use however they want. We don't have definite information about EU plans and of course it would affect Dover, but our main concern at the moment is the harbour board."

Mr Edgington has been involved with the Dover Sea Angling Association for 50 years and his father was a member in the 1930s.

The club opened on October 31, 1903, but was suspended during the war before being reopened on May 18, 1945.

Many of its members have been fishing on the pier for decades, but Mr Edgington fears things could go downhill if the harbour board continues to make restrictions.

He said: "They've just taken another 75 yards off the end – they're chipping away at the areas we can use."

"We are also restricted because of the cruise liners that come in. I've been part of the association for 50 years and things are getting worse."

PIER PRESSURE: Anglers say Dover Harbour Board is making fishing on Admiralty Pier and the breakwater more difficult

"The harbour board's predecessors were much more cooperative than they are now – these days they have a hand in everything."

According to Mr Edgington, the association pays £13,000 plus VAT annually to use the pier and in recent years has had to pay £200,000 for repairs.

A spokesperson from the harbour board said they would not discuss specific commercial arrangements, but said it had been necessary to bring back the fishing demarcation line.

"This is because fishing lines have snared in the radar and caused considerable damage."

"This can also be hazardous for operations as the radar is an essential piece of equipment."

"It has also been necessary to restrict fishing on cruise days, primarily on a safety basis, although at all times except in extreme weather fishing areas are available."

The spokesperson added that the board is trying to balance the operational requirements with other needs of the community, including recreational activities.

"As such we are committed to continuing to provide areas such as those for fishing where possible. It is worth stating that as a port we provide valuable economic input both nationally and to the local community."

But Mr Edgington believes anglers are such a strong body throughout the country that they should have more of a say.

He said: "We've been fishing there for years and yet the harbour board has so much influence over what we can do now."

CROWDS: Thousands of antiques enthusiasts flocked to last year's fair at Walmer Green

Cllr Pat Heath, chairman of Walmer Parish Council, said: "Last year's brocante was a huge success, attracting 5,000 visitors to Walmer."

"We're pleased to have the support of Canterbury Auction Galleries this year and are hoping for a good turnout again on the day."

Anyone wishing to book a stall can visit www.walmercouncil.co.uk or call 01304 381506. The price is £28 for the day.

Talent show drummer's delight at TV triumph

Speaking after his big day, the youngster, who played Wipe Out by The Safaris, said he was really excited about making it through.

"It's great, I got positive comments from all the judges – it was awesome."

"I wasn't really nervous before and I think I played really well, I didn't make any mistakes."

"I just love playing the drums. When I'm gigging with my mum and dad it feels great – I just shut my eyes and take it all in."

He added: "I'd love to be in a band in the future."

Mandy said she was thrilled that Kieran had got through.

"He played so well. He's very confident. I think he builds it all up and lets it out in his playing," she said.

"It was a great day. Now we just have to wait and see if he can make it through to the semi-finals."

Britain's Got Talent will be broadcast by ITV during the summer.

Copper turns out to be fool's gold for jailed lorry load thief

A MAN from Deal has been jailed for his part in trying to steal a German lorry and its load of scrap copper worth £60,000.

Rodney John Stacey, 33, was one of four men sentenced at Canterbury Crown Court on Friday. All were charged with one count of conspiracy to steal.

Stacey was sentenced to 18 months imprisonment along with Thomas William Spain, 52, from Folkestone, and Trevor Anthony Coates, 35, from Ashford.

Andrew Thomas Jones, 34, from Canterbury, was sentenced to 12 months and Carl Martin, 48, was found not guilty of the charges.

On March 4 last year, Thomas Spain, who was employed as a lorry driver for a German transport company dealing in metals, was meant to be taking a load of scrap copper from east London to Olen in Belgium.

Instead, he pulled over into a lay-by on the A2 near Canterbury, faked a heart attack and was taken to hospital by ambulance, where paramedics could find nothing wrong.

Andrew Jones, Thomas Spain's nephew, accompanied by friend Rodney Stacey, intercepted the lorry, making it appear that the subsequent taking and driving away was a random theft.

The men kept the lorry and copper in their possession before they were led to its eventual destination, where they tried to sell the copper to a scrap metal yard in Faversham before being caught by Kent Police.

Nigel Pilkington, head of CPS South East Complex Casework Unit, said: "Each defendant played his part in the conspiracy and all worked together to make the plan a reality thinking that it would net them a substantial profit."

"We were determined that those responsible for organising and executing this theft should be brought to justice."

Dover's new hospital doors will open 2011

■ BY MARIJKE COX

CONTRACTS have been signed for the development of Dover's new £20 million community hospital.

Building group Interserve has been awarded the contract by the East Kent Hospitals University NHS Trust, with construction expected to begin this autumn.

The doors to the new facility will open in the summer of 2011 and a variety of clinical services will be available, including a minor injuries unit, an outpatient department and a minor procedures suite.

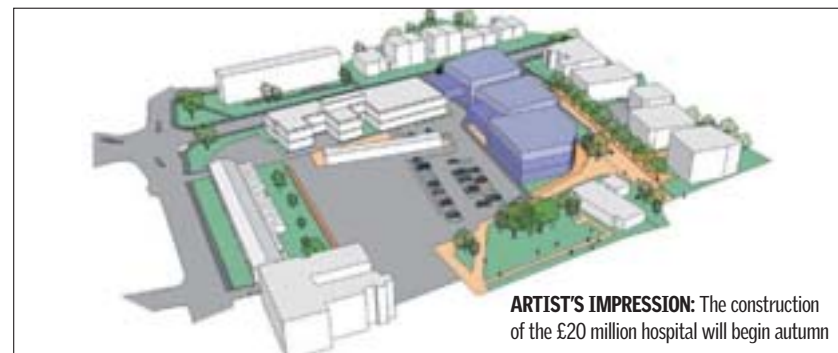

Controversy

Its location, which caused controversy last year when it was revealed as a flood risk area, is in the centre of town on Maison Dieu Road near to the Citizens Advice Bureau.

Despite an objection put in by the Environment Agency and criticism from the New Hospital for Dover group, the central site was agreed on by health chiefs, Dover District Council and KCC.

David Patterson, managing director of Interserve Project Services, said: "We recognise that this hospital will be an important facility for the people of Dover and the surrounding area of Kent and we are proud to have been chosen to deliver it."

"With experience of more than 90 ProCure 21 projects to date, we shall be working closely with the Trust to ensure that we create the modern hospital the community deserves."

ARTIST'S IMPRESSION: The construction of the £20 million hospital will begin autumn

The state-of-the-art facility, which also includes a birthing unit, therapy and diagnostic services as well as satellite renal dialysis, will cover more than 50,000 square foot and will be three storeys high.

Dover and Deal Labour MP Gwyn Prosser has welcomed the announcement that contracts have been signed.

He said: "I'm one of the many people in Dover who has been campaigning for better health facilities for more than 20 years and am delighted that the government's £20m funding now promises to make our plans a reality."

"The town centre location will allow building to commence this year and our new hospital will be open for business in 2011, which along with all our other town centre projects, will be widely welcomed."

His political rival Charlie Elphicke, the Conservative parliamentary candidate for Dover and Deal, said although he is delighted with the announcement he believes people in the area deserve better.

"This is a polyclinic and not a proper hospital, but it is very much a step forward which is what we need."

"At a public meeting last year local health chiefs agreed that a provision in the contract be made to upgrade the hospital during construction if there is a change of government."

"This would be an upgrade from a polyclinic to a proper hospital with care beds and A&E facilities. I'm delighted construction is starting, but this is not a general hospital."

SOS: A rowing event will raise much-needed funds for the RNLI

Good conditions for charity row

A BBC Radio Kent weather girl is preparing herself for a gruelling rowing machine challenge to raise money for the RNLI's SOS appeal.

Nazaneen Ghaffar will join her BBC colleague Steve Ladner, a Dover Lifeboat volunteer, and the rest of the crew to row the equivalent distance of Dover to Boulogne in the centre of Biggin Street.

Dover Rowing Club is supplying two rowing machines for the event, which takes place on Saturday, January 31, at 8.30am.

Tony Hawkins, Dover Lifeboat press officer, said: "Each year the RNLI holds its SOS appeal and challenges fundraisers to raise money in ingenious ways using SOS as a theme, so we are asking people to Support our Sculling."

Coxswain Stuart Richardson said: "When someone suggested rowing I thought what an excellent way for the crew to get fit after the excesses of Christmas."

"It will also help us remember how difficult it was for the early lifeboat volunteers who would have to row heavy wooden boats for many hours through treacherous seas."

Suspect report blows turbine farm plans cold

■ BY MARIJKE COX

OPPONENTS to controversial plans for a wind farm in East Langdon are feeling confident as the three-week public inquiry draws to a close.

The last few witnesses took to the stand on Friday to discuss possible noise problems created by the five 120-metre-high turbines proposed by energy giant Ecotricity.

Noise expert Andrew McKenzie, from the Hayes McKenzie Partnership, was grilled by barristers representing Dover District Council, Langdon Parish Council and Langdon Action Group.

Mr McKenzie was called to the stand by Ecotricity's barrister John Houghton and stated that through an assessment carried out by his company it had been found that noise would not be a problem if the development goes ahead.

But cross-examination revealed the final noise assessment was completed after four attempts and a number of errors, throwing into question its reliability.

Langdon Action Group's chief concerns about the wind farm is its close proximity to homes, the effect it would have on the cultural heritage of Dover, and the noise of the turbines which could lead to health problems.

Anthony Hyde, chairman of Langdon Action Group said: "I believe we managed to convince the planning inspector of the damaging effects a wind farm would have on the cultural heritage of Dover, showing the difference between the effect on the more intimate villages and hamlets and on the wider countryside.

"Noise is more complicated as it's very hard to prove, but I'm still feeling confident. Before this inquiry I was 50 per cent sure we could win but now it's more like 65 per cent."

Closing statements by the legal teams have been postponed until February 10 due to the inquiry running over its allocated time.

Although a date has not been set for a decision on the appeal, Mr Hyde hopes it could be around Easter.

Picture: ANDY ATTCHISON/fandimages.com

PROBLEMS: Things still look uncertain for Ecotricity's plans for a wind farm in Dover as the appeal falters

He said: "Although there is a lot to go through I think the planning inspector will want to make a decision when everything is fresh in his mind."

The public inquiry was called following an appeal by Ecotricity on the grounds of non-determination by Dover District Council's planning committee.

Appeal sparks thorough investigation

ANTHONY Hyde, chairman of Langdon Action Group, spoke to Yourdover during a brief break in the inquiry.

He said: "In my view the planning inspector has enough information to dismiss this appeal. I'm not saying he will, but we have had outstanding experts speaking for us, as has Langdon Parish Council.

"I've been very impressed with the planning inspector, most of all his concentration as there is so much to go through.

"He has to make sure everything is right on the legal side because if he dismisses this appeal and there are errors found, then Ecotricity could take it to the High Court to try and get the application put through that way."

KCC funding for farmers

RURAL communities in Dover could be in for a slice of £2.25 million from Kent County Council to help fund their projects.

Grants are being made available through a rural funding programme by the Kent Downs and Marshes Leader over the next five years.

Up to £50,000 can be awarded to help farmers developing new local food products, innovative new tourism schemes and community-led projects.

Richard Long, KCC lead member for regeneration and supporting independence, said: "This new rural funding programme comes as a much-needed boost for Kent's rural heartland at this difficult time.

"It's good to be able to give rural businesses and communities a shot in the arm as we're feeling the effects of the economic downturn."

Rural Dover is in the qualifying area. Apply at www.kentruralnetwork.org/leader or email Contactruralregeneration@kent.gov.uk.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Health inspections to raise awareness of asbestos

DOVER District Council is teaming up with the Health and Safety Executive to launch an asbestos inspection campaign in February.

The move comes following new figures showing that asbestos related diseases are still the largest occupational killers in the UK, with around 4,000 deaths per year.

Letters have been sent to 80 companies in the district to remind businesses of their responsibilities under the Control of Asbestos Regulations 2006, and to pre-warn them of the inspection visits.

For more on health and safety issues visit www.dover.gov.uk or call the Environmental Health team at DDC on 01304 872216.

Information about asbestos can be found at www.hse.gov.uk/asbestos.

QUESTION & ANSWER

GAVIN OAKLEY

Q How did you get involved in the hotel industry?

A My parents Chris and Lea bought Walle's Court in 1976 when it was a wreck surrounded by tin sheds and old barns on a working farm. It became our family home and we put our hearts and souls into renovating it.

We never thought about starting a hotel until one day when a camper knocked on our door and asked if we could put him up for the night. He offered us a fiver for bed and breakfast and we thought "Why not?". Mum made a B&B sign and hanged it on the front door.

In the early days it was Dad at the helm. By then he'd already built a reputation as a great chef following his work with the Roux brothers in London. He was their first British head chef to attain a Michelin star.

What started as a B&B evolved into a restaurant with rooms. I learned a lot in those early years working alongside my father in the 'engine room' and in the late 1980s I did my own 'tour of duty' in the London kitchens of Albert Roux. I returned to Walle's Court in the early 1990s before taking a break to indulge my passion for the great outdoors.

I travelled to the Alps to train as a mountain leader and ski instructor and I discovered that the Europeans really knew how to relax after a hard day on the hill.

When I returned, I set about building a spa that offered the kind of luxury facilities I'd seen in the ski resorts of Austria and France.

Q Why did you set up another hotel in the district?

A I looked for opportunities to expand the business and in May 2008 I invested £1.5 million in a second hotel a mile away in St Margaret's-at-Cliffe. The White Cliffs Hotel was a weather-boarded old coaching inn, parts of which date back to Elizabethan times.

We've taken a fresh approach with the property, introducing a contemporary feel without compromising the charm of the building. We've restyled the 15 bedrooms to give them a modern New England twist and converted the loft into a micro spa. We've also opened The White Cliffs Trading Company store, which sells exclusive ranges of home and garden products.

Q What makes your hotels stand out from the rest?

A Places like Walle's Court and The White Cliffs Hotel continue to thrive because they offer something unique, the kind of distinction, warmth and intimacy that many big brand hotels lack. The most successful hotel chains are good at what they do, but they are faceless global brands which are basically selling consistency. There's a big market for that, but many people prefer something a bit more personal.

Q Can you tell us a little about the awards you have won?

A Walle's Court is included in The Good Food Guide 2009. It is the 20th consecutive year that it has appeared in the guide. It also features in Alistair Sawday's Special Places To Stay guide – described by The Independent on Sunday as "the hotel bible".

Walle's Court has two coveted AA dining rosettes, while The White Cliffs recently gained its first AA dining rosette.

Q What are the key ingredients to a successful business?

A Everyone who works at our hotels is passionate about good customer service. We don't just serve our guests, we connect with them and make them feel part of the community.

It's the little touches that help set independent hotels like ours apart – incorporating local history and culture in the architecture, décor, theme or cuisine, for example, making the effort to source fresh local produce for your restaurant, or giving each bedroom an individual style.

These days people aren't just looking for comfort and convenience, they want an experience.

Q Have you had many famous faces staying at your hotels?

A Little Britain star David Walliams stayed with us when he swam the English Channel for charity last year and Ryder Cup golfer Colin Montgomerie and TV presenters Richard Madeley and Judy Finnegan have also enjoyed breaks here.

• For more information about the hotels, you can visit www.walle'scourt.com or www.thewhitecliffs.co.uk.

The sky's the limit for your special one

BY JON COATES

WE HAVE found the ultimate present for your Valentine – a helicopter lesson.

Kent is lucky enough to have one of the best helicopter pilot training schools in the UK.

AV8 Helicopters, at Rochester Airport, offers introductory flying lessons so you can experience the thrill of taking control of a helicopter.

So if you're looking to sweep your Valentine off their feet, this could be the answer. I went along to Rochester Airport this week for a 30-minute introductory flight to find out more.

Experiencing a mix of excitement and trepidation, I was introduced to my instructor Richard Cooke, 61, and immediately relieved to find myself in safe hands.

He introduced me to the Robinson R22 helicopter we would be going up in and I was stunned by how small it was.

This is the most popular aircraft for training pilots as it is very light and therefore sensitive to the touch.

Richard first explained the three flying controls – the cyclic stick used to speed up, slow down and go left or right, the collective lever used to make the craft rise or fall and two foot pedals used to control the tail rotor.

For the trial flight you only take control of the cyclic stick in flight, but it's good to understand the basics before taking off.

Richard stressed how sensitive the stick is and explained where we would be flying and that once we were levelled out and settled in to a cruise the controls would be passed to me.

The Robinson R22 has a perspex canopy (the MIND BLOWING: Jon Coates takes to the sky in a truly unforgettable experience flying a helicopter front windscreen) stretching down to near your feet, which gives an incredible view and makes you feel like you're floating on air.

It was an amazing feeling just lifting off with the whole of Medway stretching in front of me as we headed towards Leeds Castle. Then after just a few minutes I gripped the control stick and was flying.

Despite the safety warnings I immediately sent us veering off to the right. But Richard soon corrected me and I managed to keep a straight course, which is the aim of the introductory lesson. As I relaxed and my confidence grew I was able to look around and take in the stunning views, having been blessed with clear blue skies on a rare sunny winter day.

The feeling of keeping it straight and level, and speeding up to make small alterations in direction to the left or right was brilliant.

AV8 run 20-minute introductory flights for £130 plus VAT, 30-minute flights for £147.50 plus VAT and hour flights for £255 plus VAT, which are perfect gifts or birthday presents.

After the trial flight if you're as hooked as me then you need a minimum of 45 hours of lessons to get your private pilot's licence, at a cost of £255 plus VAT per hour.

They also offer flights in executive helicopters over London and Hellfire Corner in Kent for £150 per person plus VAT.

Finishing school to help motivate our youngsters

TROUBLESOME teenagers are being invited to clean up their act by attending a modern-day version of a finishing school.

Shy youngsters and those with low self-esteem have also taken part in the Brand You Experience, which aims to help school leavers prepare for working life through a series of motivational workshops.

The scheme, which started in Dover last year and is now being extended to Maidstone, is a joint initiative between Kent County Council and mentoring and coaching organisation Beyond Excellence.

Project leader Dean Martin said: "Some of the schools used the course as a means of rewarding pupils who weren't troublemakers but who rarely shined in the classroom. But then we had some who were bouncing off the walls and others who had very low opinions of themselves and perhaps weren't receiving the right support at home."

The next Brand You Experience course runs for five days from Monday, February 16, at Bradbourne House, East Malling, Maidstone. Each session runs from 9.30am until 3.30pm daily, and Mr Martin is encouraging potential employers to visit and offer their support to the youngsters.

He said: "We have found from talking to young people and employers that they are often poles apart in what they expect from each other."

For more details on the scheme call Mr Martin on 01843 844939.

Boys with their fingers on the green button

STUDENTS from Dover Grammar School for Boys have come up with a way to save people £50 on their energy bills.

The Green Footprint Group (GFG), set up by sixth-formers under the Young Enterprise scheme, has designed an Ecobutton (pictured left) which plugs into computers to make them more energy-frugal.

The USB desktop device can be used on any Windows 2000, XP or Vista computer and switches the machine into an 'eco-mode' that is quicker to activate than the conventional standby option and keeps it running while using less energy.

According to the group, just three hours of use per day could save families £50 on energy bills a year and the software also displays on the screen how much carbon dioxide, as well as money, is being saved.

The GFG is also using the Ecobutton as a way of promoting green issues in the district by donating £1 from each one sold to local primary schools to help fund green projects.

The group is charging just £12 for the device, instead of the recommended retail price of £14.99.

■ BY MARIJKE COX

Sixth-former Jack Williams, director of the company, said: "Schools need support in funding green projects and this is our way to help those schools who want to help the planet and educate their pupils but maybe don't have the cash to do so."

"As pupils, we know how important this is and how hard schools find financing green projects, so it's paramount that businesses like us support local schools."

Information about the scheme and the product is being distributed in schools newsletters, along with order forms, and a £1 donation will be made when parents buy an Ecobutton.

People without children at primary school can quote SCH and name a school to which they wish the donation to go.

For more information, email www.thegfg@hotmail.co.uk, visit the GFG website at www.thegfg.co.uk, or ask your local primary school for a newsletter.

Cheques should be made payable to The Green Footprint Group and sent to Dover Grammar School for Boys, Astor Avenue, Dover CT17 0DQ.

BREAK TIME

Students will toast breakfast scheme

PUPILS at Whitfield and Aspen School near Dover are being urged to eat breakfast during Farmhouse Breakfast Week.

The scheme, organised by the Home Grown Cereals Authority and supported by the National Farmers Union (NFU), runs from January 25-31 and aims to give children a healthy, balanced diet.

Youngsters who attend the breakfast club at the school will be treated to a special farmhouse menu on January 28, including apples, baked bread, sausages, cheese and fruit jams.

In addition, Rosemary Plommer, of Maydensole Farm, Whitfield will be bringing in a model cow for the children to 'milk'.

Rosemary is a member of the NFU and has been promoting the scheme for four years to boost attendance at the breakfast club.

Farmhouse Breakfast Week is a national initiative aimed at encouraging people to wake up to breakfast as part of a healthy balanced diet and active lifestyle.

It includes events at schools across the country where local farmers and food producers provide samples of their produce.

Isobel Bretherton, spokeswoman for NFU South East, said: "Breakfast is an essential part of a healthy, active lifestyle."

"Think breakfast and you'll be guaranteed a great start to the day, with energy for the tasks ahead and good levels of concentration."

Gifted pianist is the key to school recital

A YOUNG award-winning musician is playing a piano recital at the Fine Arts Series at Dover Grammar School for Boys.

Oliver Poole, who by the age of eight was named as the most promising young pianist in Europe, will play at the school on Thursday, January 29, at 7.30pm.

Admission is £5 for adults and £2 for students, including refreshments.

Oliver, who is scheduled to start his studies at the Royal Academy of Music, held the title of Kent Young Pianist of the Year and founded The Siberian Appeal for intensive-care units for children in Siberia.

£30m shopping centre placed on the market

■ BY JAMES ALEXANDRE

BOUVERIE Place shopping centre is up for sale – barely a year after it first opened.

Owners Warner Estate Holdings have announced the £30 million building, which houses a giant 83,000 sq ft Asda superstore and space for 25 other shops, has been put on the market after interest from potential buyers.

However, since the centre opened in November 2007, some units have remained empty and there were indications at the end of last year that the parent company was responding to the pressures of the global economic downturn.

Chairman Philip Warner, in his company's annual review before Christmas, said: "We are concentrating on those areas which we can control, namely, improving our income, reducing our costs and maximising our cash. "We are being proactive in meeting the challenge of falling values and remain in compliance with our banking covenants."

FOR SALE: Bouverie Place opened in late 2007

"The property sector continues to face significant challenges and the group is not immune from these, particularly the impact of falling property values. However the board is ever mindful of the risks facing the business in the current climate and the ongoing uncertainties in our industry.

"We are being proactive in meeting these challenges and we are confident that by taking appropriate actions, including disposals and securing uncharged assets, we shall mitigate the risks as far as possible."

The group also announced it would not be issuing an interest dividend to shareholders for 2008, in order to conserve cash and reduce debt over the coming months.

There is no suggestion that jobs or retailers at the centre are under threat.

In addition to Asda, Bouverie Place also hosts BHS and Next, as well as smaller shops such as Peacocks, HMV and New Look.

Last month, Maidstone's Fremlin Walk shopping centre was put up for sale for £94 million after owners Land Securities said they wanted to raise the cash for other projects.

Police frustration at violent crime statistical error

A LEADING Kent police officer has voiced "frustration" over the force's misreporting of serious violent crimes in the county.

Kent Police were among 18 forces that had incorrectly counted the numbers of the most serious offences such as murder and grievous bodily harm (GBH) due to a change in Home Office guidance.

The county constabulary was forced to suspend serious violent offences statistics from its crime figures for the third quarter of 2008.

Acting Assistant Chief Constable Peter West said: "It is frustrating, in so much as when there are new crime recording and differences introduced and the guidance that goes with it, it takes a period of settling down."

"We have suspended our figures because of applying the wrong interpretation to the guidelines, but we will know the figures before the end of the financial year," Mr West added.

"Serious violent crime was 6.3 per cent of our total – 1,277 out of 20,204 – and when we have gone through every one with the most recent guidance, every indication is that the figure will fall."

He said the changes did not alter the fact that violent crime in the county was falling. Kent showed a nine per cent reduction in total violent crime.

Innovative midwives rewarded by reduction in caesarean rates

MIDWIVES in Kent have developed an idea that has seen caesarean section rates drop by five per cent.

Concerns have been raised that caesarean rates, which had doubled in 10 years, are too high and the NHS has been working to ensure more women have normal births.

Sarah Gregson, a consultant midwife for Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust, entered her team into the Royal College of Midwives (RCM) annual awards in the innovation category.

They arranged for the midwife caring for a woman in labour to fill in a form every hour noting information such as changes of position and keeping the woman upright. Midwives also encourage different support strategies, such as using water.

And their work, which has cut caesarian rates, was placed in the UK top three at a ceremony at the Royal Garden Hotel in London.

The audit tool, devised in 2003 by a group of midwives led by Hilary Thomas at Pembury Hospital, was used again during 2007-08.

Mrs Gregson said: "C-section rates have doubled across the UK but we have not been saving more mothers or babies because of it."

"Maternity services are looking at how we can increase normal births because there are health benefits for both mother and child."

Research shows that women who give birth normally are more likely to breast feed, which is best for the newborn. During the second trial of the audit, caesarean rates dropped by two per cent overall from 26 per cent of births in 2007 to 23.4 per cent in 2008.

Mrs Gregson said that while C-sections were important for women experiencing serious complications or with medical conditions, many were being carried out unnecessarily.

Ray Duff despairs of the changes that are going to leave us with a poorer rail service

It's time to bring our trains back under the public wing

I'M sure most people will, like me, not be able to afford to travel – even if we wanted to – on the new trains from the Channel coast to St Pancras from the end of the year.

Nor be able, or even want to, 'speedwalk' at four miles an hour across London, as company adverts claim, to get to central destinations.

Most of us mere mortals can usually only manage about half the suggested speed; those with disabilities would be even worse off and so likely be forced to pay even more to use buses (so often gridlocked) or the Underground.

As for the regular trains, it appears it's going to be a worsening service from now on, with service cuts and extended running times as the Go-Ahead group has already indicated.

From Folkestone we have one fast and one semi-fast train to and from Charing Cross and Waterloo East, which are the most convenient stations for the West End, South Kensington museums etc., as well as the City. The last, though, still requires a change and 10-minute delay at Tonbridge to get to London Bridge.

However, after December, it appears there will be only one or two semi-fast trains from the coast via Tonbridge to London, and worse in the evenings.

This was negotiated by Rail For Folkestone and promoted as a success but actually shows it caved in to the company with little resistance. It even failed to ensure that the new fast service stopped at Sandling.

Elsewhere, the two Go-Ahead-owned local companies have already cut the fairly comfortable alternative service to Brighton from east Kent, albeit with a few changes, by reducing the service from Tonbridge to Redhill to one an hour with a long delay between train transfer.

As for the Marshlink service, people have been complaining about this dangerously overcrowded 'non' service for years.

While train operators have thankfully been stopped from cutting services by the Government, local ones have said that if the recession means fewer people travel by train, they will cut the already overcrowded services by shortening trains from eight coaches to four.

This, together with the announcement of 300 job cuts... convenient for a company but again not for the travelling public.

I suspect most people would rather the whole UK train service was returned to public control.

I suggest regional not-for-profit social enterprises with no compensation for the current managements and shareholders, who reportedly have received increased payouts following increased profits.

All politicians should guarantee to increase and then maintain rail investment levels, instead of more cuts, to both improve services and help tackle global warming in the long term.

TALK TIME

PAULA ELLIOT

Paula Elliot is a franchisee of Pitman Training, She talks to Yourdover about opportunities to improve your skills

Can you tell me a little bit about Pitman Training and what it involves?

PITMAN Training is an international network of individually owned and operated training centres. The courses and diplomas train individuals, corporate or private, to be proficient in Microsoft Applications, accounts and payroll using Sage packages and improve skills such as typing/keyboard and shorthand. The courses are delivered through the computer so students may progress at a pace that suits them individually.

Have you had an increase of people coming to see you due to the recession?

PITMAN Training has always been popular with people who have been facing redundancy. They often want a quick fix and to be able to go on a short course - between 4-10 weeks and then get back out to work and often earn more money than they were previously.

How is the scheme funded?

PITMAN Training courses and diplomas are paid for by individuals or employers. There are a number of flexible payment schemes including a pre-approved payment plan and a buy now pay later scheme. Pitman Training also has a contract with Learndirect where priority learners/ individuals can access public funds. Employers can also access public funds through Train to Gain and have staff complete an NVQ in either IT or Business Administration. There is still funding available and if people just want to see what their options are ring us on 01304 212500.

Disabled drivers should pay up

Why is it that disabled car drivers feel so aggrieved?

The majority of them benefit from a free car, free insurance and free tax (and servicing/tyres) all paid for by the taxpayer and yet they continue to make demands.

I appreciate that they need special parking areas so they can access their wheelchairs etc or just so they do not have to walk very far, but they do abuse this privilege with their parking in the roads when they park without any consideration for other users (going to the cafe for breakfast etc) yet expect others to consider them.

I feel strongly they should pay for the parking areas - they cannot say they cannot afford them as they are on benefits because they receive more than many others. If this is the case then why do the unemployed, single mothers, even people on housing benefits etc pay for parking?

On the other hand, if they did pay it would stop the abuse by drivers that use the Blue Badge but are not the disabled person it is registered to and are not disabled, so there would be no reason for them to use these spaces thereby freeing up more spaces for the people they were designed for.

But I do think it is about time that traffic wardens started handing out tickets to disabled drivers for their inconsiderate parking instead of walking straight past them, when they cause obstructions and hazards. They should not be permitted to park on any double yellow lines as these are put there for the reasons I have just stated. If they need something from a premises adjacent to double yellows they should go to another premises as anyone else would do, after all they have the transport.

By the way, I have several genuine disabled relatives of my own including three brothers and they all agree with me.

Weekend plans went up in smoke

On Saturday, January 17, Ash almost came to a standstill due to a fire in the main street.

Over the weekend the OAPs and disabled people had no way of getting to the main towns as all buses had no access to the main village.

This meant you had to walk to New Street or Gilton to catch the 14 or 13A, or to catch the 13 you had to walk to Shatterling or the bus-stop near the boot fair site.

This is not easy for the OAPS or disabled people, so the weekend was a downer for them.

As Stagecoach was told, I feel that minibuses would have been better than the 13 missing Ash out altogether.

Resident of Ash

Market plan is a great idea for town

The suggestion the redundant Woolworths stores which occupy prominent positions in towns should be converted into markets is an excellent one.

This would enable small traders to have a permanent place to build up their customer base. It would also be of great benefit to the local economy as the most likely users of such facilities would come from the immediate area. A range of new stalls would be an attraction to shoppers as well.

The debate about what to do with the Woolworths sites should end now and this excellent suggestion taken up.

Elegant dining in the heart of the country

THE search is over. Are you after that perfect restaurant that combines good food with great service and a stylish setting?

Martin's Restaurant has got it spot on. And we should think so, as the popular village venue has just celebrated its 21st birthday, so they must be doing something right.

It's hard to get the perfect balance when you go out for dinner – the desire for excellent food is often overshadowed by glitzy décor, or the good service surpassed by a seemingly-fresh chocolate pud. What Martin's has done for 21 years now is combine every element on the diner's checklist and packaged it in an affordable and enjoyable evening out.

Until a few years ago, the Boughton family-run restaurant epitomised everything we love about the Kentish countryside, and although it still champions it, you'll notice some refreshing changes.

Gone are the hops, in are classic Parisian black-and-white portraits and images that reflect the sophisticated yet friendly atmosphere the team strives to create every evening.

In is a fresh new menu, with some old favourites – Julie and Paul Martin would have been condemned had the famous crab, avocado and cheese starter disappeared – and Paul's famous steaks remain as expertly prepared.

But we welcome classic twists to the à la carte and set menus. All meals are freshly prepared on the night, too, using the finest ingredients, locally sourced where possible.

Whether it's a romantic meal for two, a birthday party or wedding reception, Martin's guarantees the elegance of London in the heart of the Garden of England.

For a look at the monthly set menu or à la carte menu, see the new website at www.martinsrestaurant.co.uk.

Opening times are Tuesday to Saturdays, 7pm to last orders at 10pm, and Sundays, noon to last orders 2pm.

If you like to dine out but are a bit indecisive, then the Friday night carvery is ideal. An array of fresh seafood, salads, roast meats and vegetables means you can create your own starter and main course for just £14.50.

Group is Looking Ahead to provide you afternoon tea

Looking Ahead

THIS group is a training provider which supports people with learning disabilities and enables them to live more independent and productive lives.

One of the ways they achieve this is by running tea shops in The Old Chapel along the seafront at St Margaret's near Dover and also in the nearby Pine Gardens.

The shop in the Pines also includes a small museum dedicated to two former residents of the village – authors Noël Coward and Ian Fleming.

A new exhibition dedicated to Fleming's famous secret agent, James Bond, has just been opened.

The group has also opened a delicatessen in the village which gives students new opportunities to gain retail experience.

Looking Ahead is also celebrating its first student to obtain a Level 2 NVQ in catering and six more are currently attempting to follow in her footsteps.

As well as helping students, the tea rooms offer excellent value for the customer. All sandwiches are freshly made and there is also a takeaway service on offer. Light lunches and home-made cakes are on the menu, too.

Local artists are also a beneficiary of the group as their work is shown at the tea rooms which are extremely popular, both among locals and visitors to the picturesque village and its cliffs.

LOCAL PRODUCE

Looking Ahead

Make your own chocolate truffle cake.
Ingredients: 400g digestive biscuits (whole packet) crushed; 200g melted butter; 500g white or dark chocolate, one pint of double cream.
Crush the biscuits in bowl, add melted butter, mix together, grease a plate and place a cake tin in middle, empty the mixture into cake tin, flatten out until even and place in a fridge for one hour. BIG NAMES: Helen Ryan and Edward Fox are coming to Canterbury for four days of classic comedy at The Marlowe Theatre

Upper crust of comedy

Big-screen stars act out blue-blood adversity on stage

LLOYD GEORGE KNEW MY FATHER

Tuesday to Saturday, February 3-7
The Marlowe Theatre, Canterbury

THE British aristocracy stands firm in the face of adversity in the comedy classic Lloyd George Knew My Father.

Film, television and stage legend Edward Fox and distinguished actress Helen Ryan star in William Douglas Home's play, which tells the tale of an eccentric couple whose stately home is threatened by progress.

Described as a "hilarious drawing-room comedy", this hugely entertaining production features two great British stars at their best.

The Boothroyd family are facing disaster. It has been announced that a dual carriageway is to be built and the new road will run straight through the grounds of historic Boothroyd Hall, which welcomed Charles I as a guest the night before the Battle of Edgehill.

The resolute Lady Boothroyd declares that she will kill herself the moment the bulldozers begin their destructive work, but will anyone be able to change her mind?

A member of the highly-regarded Fox acting dynasty, Edward has starred in some of film and TV's most notable productions.

He appeared alongside Michael Caine, Robert Redford and Sir Laurence Olivier in the 1977 film A Bridge Too Far and also had a role in the Oscar-winning Gandhi.

This is not his first foray into the world of the upper crust – Fox has even portrayed royalty, playing King Edward VIII in the popular 1980 mini-series Edward and Mrs Simpson, for which he won a BAFTA.

But he has also played characters from the other end of the social spectrum, such as the dignified butler Lane in a 2002 film version of Oscar Wilde's The Importance of Being Earnest, starring Colin Firth and Rupert Everett.

Helen Ryan has made many stage and radio appearances and on screen she has acted in TV series as diverse as Green Wing and Midsomer Murders. Her film credits include Confetti and the Oscar-nominated classic The Elephant Man.

The play's author was the brother of Sir Alec Douglas Home, who became Prime Minister in 1964.

William Douglas Home was an aristocrat who began writing plays as a child, studied at RADA and went on to become a writer and dramatist.

He served as an officer in the Second World War but was stripped of his rank and sentenced to a year's hard labour after refusing to bomb Le Havre in France on the grounds the civilians had not been evacuated.

Performances will be at 7.30pm daily, with 2.30pm matinees on Thursday and Saturday. Tickets are priced from £12.50-£23.50. Book at www.marlowetheatre.com, or phone the box office on 01227 787787.

CASTLE TOURS

Ongoing
Dover Castle

VISITORS can uncover the hidden history of Dover Castle this year by taking advantage of six new tours. The castle's keep is being prepared for its transformation into the medieval Great Tower, due to open this summer, so English Heritage is offering some exciting new tours that will take visitors deep into the castle's defences.

Running between 11.30am and 3pm every day, the free guided tours will go both above and below ground as walkers discover how Dover Castle has withstood centuries of military warfare.

The routes will alternate to take in different areas of the site, including the Medieval Underground Works, Avranches Tower and the Outer Curtain Wall.

Learn about the importance of gateways, towers, tunnels and ramparts in withstanding attack and spot evidence of the towers and walls from when the castle was a young building.

The Hidden Dover tours will run subject to availability and weather and will not be held on event days. For more information, phone 01304 211067, or visit www.english-heritage.org.uk.

ELVIS ON TOUR - THE LEGEND CONTINUES

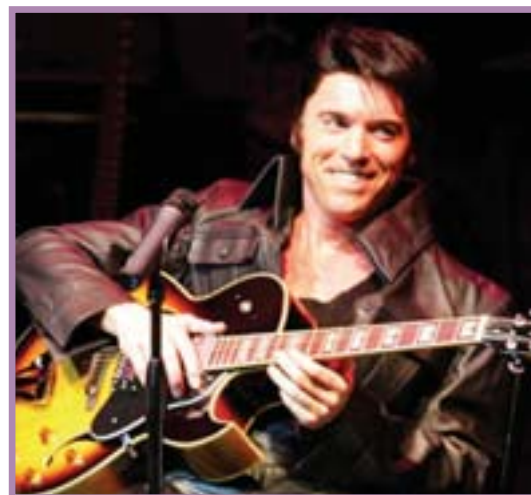

Saturday, February 7
Leas Cliff Hall, Folkestone

RELIVE the entire career of music's greatest icon in Elvis On Tour - The Legend Continues.

Lee 'Memphis' King has the distinction of being named the Best Elvis Tribute Artist In The World at the 2005 Collingwood Elvis Festival in Canada.

The king of Kings has come up with a show that covers the four distinct eras of his idol's career and features many of the singer's best-loved hits.

In his early years at Sun Records with legendary producer Sam Phillips, Elvis would perform his hip-swivelling brand of rock'n' roll in a gold lame jacket or white sport coat before joining the army. This was followed by the onset of the hippie era, in which Elvis's career was overshadowed by the British Invasion and he starred in what may be considered to be low-grade movies.

In 1968 the King silenced his critics with an iconic "comeback special", drawing the highest worldwide television audiences ever, and went on to achieve further success during the glamorous 'Vegas years'.

The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £18.50 or £17.50.

Phone 0844 847 1776, or see www.leascliffhall.org.uk.

THE FALSE SERVANT

Friday and Saturday,
February 6-7

Theatre Royal Margate

A CLASSIC play is being performed in two languages as part of Paris Calling, the first large-scale Franco-British performing arts season.

Theatre Royal Margate's contribution to the season is hosting the UK premiere of a special bilingual production of Marivaux's The False Servant. It is a collaboration between Third Party, based in Hastings, and BordCadre from Avion, France.

Without sacrificing the richness of the language, renowned director John Wright - who co-directs with Cecile Rist - has created a playful, visual and accessible production.

A young woman disguises herself as a man to test the true intentions of her future husband.

Soon she is embroiled in her fiancé's attempts to free himself from a romantic dalliance with a countess whose bank balance is not as healthy as he had assumed.

Performances take place at 1pm on Friday and 7.30pm on Saturday. Tickets cost £12/£10. To book, phone the box office on 0845 1301786 or 01227 787787.

DON'T MISS OUT: The Merton Farm extravaganza is proving one of the most popular on the music calendar and you can be there in 2009 as tickets go on sale this weekend

Festival excitement builds as early bird tickets arrive

EARLY bird tickets for this year's Lounge on the Farm festival go on sale this Sunday.

The discount tickets to the Canterbury three-dayer will be available from the official website.

Take my advice; get yours soon before they are all snapped up.

Tight-lipped Lounge organisers have confirmed precious little about this summer's offering apart from the basics but I can tell you this:

Lounge on the Farm, now in its fourth year, will once again take place in the glorious surroundings of Merton Farm, running from Friday, July 10 to Sunday 12.

The first line-up announcements will be made mid-March.

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

Festival organiser Matt Gough said he was delighted to start work on putting LOTF 2009 together.

He said: "Kent's 'bestest' music festival is back. We were genuinely chuffed with how well last year's festival turned out – so aren't looking to make too many changes.

"If it ain't broke don't try to fix it. Four years old this time round so hopefully we'll be using all that experience and really start mixing it with the more-renowned festivals on the circuit – but in our own intimate style.

"What you can expect from Lounge on the Farm 2009 is the best in local music mixed-up with the cream of the international music scene.

"Add in a portion of the finest festival food and drink to grace a field – think local produce and local micro-brewed beers with a touch of class.

"Mix that up with a load of family fun, big smiles and a touch of the avant-garde and you've got one of the most enjoyable weekends in the Kentish calendar.

"Already with a few line-up treats up our sleeves, without a doubt this is going to be the best LOTF yet."

Last year's sell-out festival saw hundreds of top bands and artists perform across six stages, ranging from the Cow Shed to the Sheep Dip.

The line-up boasted the likes of Art Brut, The Coral, New York Dolls, Black Kids and Mystery Jets.

CORONATION STREET
ITV1, Monday, 7.30pm & 8.30pm; Wednesday, 7.30pm; Friday, 7.30pm & 8.30pm

IT'S been a long time since Coronation Street was a regular part of my TV diet.

This most British of shows drifted off my radar a few years back, but post-Christmas seemed like an apt place to resume viewing.

After crowbar-wielding uber villain Richard Hillman had bumped off a fair number of the street's residents – but unfortunately not Hamster-faced Gail Platt – I figured it couldn't get any better.

In short, it seemed like a good place to call it a day.

On the recommendation of a friend however, I decided to take a look a few weeks back to see how life 'oop north' was being played out these days and what had become of the Rovers Return regulars.

She said it "was going great guns" so I tuned in, expectantly.

The good news is that Corrie still maintains a certain down-home humour, with characters like thick as two short planks Kirk, acid-tongued Blanche and, above all others, the curtain-twitching Norris, providing more than enough titter value.

Peter Barlow's battles with alcoholism have been deftly handled and the amusing arrest of Tyrone before his wedding was also great fun.

It is in its mainstay characters that Corrie comes into its own though.

This 30 minutes is as comforting as a cup of tea or an episode of Bullseye on UK Gold at Sunday tea time.

Just where would this country be without Emily Bishop, Kevin Webster, Rita Fairclough and intellectual moral guardian of the working classes, Ken Barlow, as ever-presents on the box?

MUCH-LOVED: Coronation Street characters such as Norris Cole are now a TV institution

Up a creek without so much as a paddle, that's where.

I dread to think what would happen would happen if 'Our Ken' and his oddly fertile head of golden hair actually left the Street? The fall of civilisation as we know it, that's what.

More skilfully written than Emmerdale, and not as cloyingly self-aware as Hollyoaks, Corrie is, I'm glad to report, alive and kicking and miles ahead of its trashy counterparts.

Dripping in tradition, and with the kind of subtle acting the doughnuts on EastEnders would kill to be able to pull off, let's raise a pint of Newton and Ridley's best bitter to the Street.

If you are going to devote a significant part of your life keeping up to date with a soap opera, then at least have the sense to make it this one.

TAKING a short trip to see family could be in the cards. At first this journey will seem like a hassle, but eventually you'll get into the spirit of things. If a relative asks for your honest opinion, give it. Be mindful of their feelings, though. It's possible to be truthful and tactful.

PROPERTY NEWS

'Browsers' boost levels in interest but not sales

THE first weeks of 2009 have seen a surge in "browsing" for new homes, with the number of enquiries from those seeking to look at properties more than doubling even as actual sales stay low.

One online home sales group says enquiries are up to 429,560 in the four weeks to January 10 from 199,762 in the same period last year.

But potential sellers are discouraged by the falling market.

There were 43,000 new listings in the month to January 10, compared with 89,000 in the same period last year.

• Read what's really happening in your part of the county by visiting www.kentnews.co.uk/readmore.

Government support is welcomed by lenders

THE Council of Mortgage Lenders says it welcomes the Government's announcements to support lending in the economy.

The group said the conditions and level of fees imposed on lenders who wish to use the new measures will be particularly important in determining their effectiveness.

Members say this should mean more of the funding that is available may go towards home purchases rather than remortgaging, which would help to support wider activity in the market.

Get a price and advice on how to sell today

ONE estate agent is hoping to breathe new life into the market by encouraging home owners to get their homes valued.

Your Move across east Kent is offering the traditional free valuation but also £200 off fees as well as advice on the realities of selling now.

There's also advice available for those considering renting their property too with discounted landlord fees.

Jackie Davies, area sales director, said: "Many people know that the traditionally busy selling period will soon be upon us but may have concerns as to whether it is appropriate to sell, or rent, particularly in the current market."

"Across south east Kent we are hosting special 'valuation days' on February 5, 6 and 7 where people can check demand and value of their home. All for free."

For further details contact your local Your Move estate agent or visit www.your-move.co.uk.

BARGAIN: Prices are still falling and discounts are to be had – up to 35 per cent in some cases. And with interest rates slashed, too, this could be the ideal time to snap up a home

Amid the gloom comes light for eager buyers

■ BY NICK AMES

IT will hardly come as a show to discover the general view among those in the property market is that 2009 is not shaping up to be a good year.

But there is still some encouraging news around for those who want to move house.

First the bad news. Prices are still falling – after a 15.9 per cent drop in 2008, according to the Nationwide – and some sellers are accepting offers of 20 per cent less than their asking prices while interest rates have been dropped to an all-time low in an effort to get things moving again.

But analysts have some good news – if you're not caught in negative equity – and can put down a decent deposit – now could be an extremely good time to buy, they claim.

This is because so many homes are selling at a discount and others are coming on to the market cheaply as they have been repossessed.

Other figures show that some mortgage deals are being offered which are actually cheaper than renting in an effort by lenders to boost the market and get it moving again.

Figures released last week by the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors showed that although the number of properties sold hit a record low at the end of last year, the number of enquiries rose at the fastest pace since August 2006.

Research by estate agent Savills shows by the third quarter of 2007, when property values peaked, buying was 44 per cent more expensive than renting.

With the subsequent fall in prices, however, the gap is closing or not there at all.

"It's a cracking time to be buying," says James Greenwood, managing director of the property-search agency Stacks. "There's hardly any competition out there at the moment, so you've got the field to yourself. Prices have been discounted, there are distressed sellers who have to sell and there are some real bargains to be had, anything between 30 per cent and 35 per cent off peak value. We haven't seen anything like this for years."

MOTORS NEWS

Alfa turns on small car style with super MiTo

RESURGENT Alfa Romeo has the new MiTo supermini in showrooms (from £10,995) and the Mini firmly in its sights.

Alfa has concentrated on eye-catching style and a good choice of petrol or diesel engines, but the small turbocharged 1.4-litre petrol units seem best suited to upholding Alfa's sporting tradition while meeting current needs for economy, hitting 60mph in eight seconds while averaging up to 46mpg, depending on output.

The newcomer also gets a maximum five stars in the Euro NCAP crash test.

Ka shows cash squeeze in the baby car sector

FORD'S all-new Ka city car has arrived as car buyers think smaller, but pricing is tight at the bottom of the market.

So the cheapest newcomer (from £7,995) undercuts its predecessor by £350.

The Ka 'Mark II' has also been promoted by the latest James Bond film Quantum of Solace – with glamorous Bond girl Olga Kurylenko seen at its wheel.

The newcomer is offered with 68bhp 1.2-litre petrol or 74bhp 1.3 diesel power, both qualifying for the cheapest payable road tax band (£35/year).

Baby Citroën is nosing ahead of its little rivals

CITROEN'S eco-friendly C1 city car (from £7,595) has a butch new front end for 2009, improved cabin and even better CO2 emissions and fuel economy.

Launched in 2005, the C1 is now one of the UK's slowest depreciating and greenest cars, with the new model offering improved CO2 emissions as low as 106g/km. The 1.0-litre petrol engine also now offers improved fuel consumption of up to 62.8mpg on the combined cycle while the 1.4HDI diesel offers an amazing 68.9mpg. Two new C1 trims are offered.

NEW KID ON THE BLOCK: Vauxhall will be attacking German prestige marques BMW/Mercedes/Audi with their new-look Insignia which costs a lot less than its rivals

New Insignia stands for a big change in attitude

VAUXHALL'S all-new Insignia marks a fresh start as well as new name in the family/company car sector.

This arena once dominated UK car sales, but now holds just a tenth of volume in the face of rivalry from 4x4s, MPVs and upmarket German kit.

Vauxhall's own seven-seat Zafira midi-MPV will have inflicted hefty damage and you sense the marque's parent General Motors has taken note.

So the Insignia drops any pretence at chasing the staid and practical MPV vote and concentrates on 'comfort and style', attacking German prestige marques while still offering a hatchback option for diehard 'rep's car' fans.

Even the estate version looks sporty and classy against the final hearse-like wagon spin-off from the Vectra – the Insignia's increasingly unloved predecessor.

The Insignia also needed to attack the Vectra's old foe, the Ford Mondeo, which had a hike in quality and style this time around, while remaining within reach of traditional fleet customers. The Insignia places it under pressure on all counts and prices start from a modest £15,935 – some £500 less than the final Vectra line-up. Styling is enhanced by two neat touches: blacked out door pillars lower a roofline that already makes the Vauxhall look like a four-door coupé, while the 'blade' detail abaft the front wheel is a master touch suggesting power and muscle.

If the car's sharp suit worries BMW/Merc/Audi then the lining offers little relief even if let down by the budget feel of controls for the driver's seat and other minutiae.

But remember the Insignia is still selling for Vectra prices. Even the sporty 'rep's favourite' SRi model we tested, with its aluminium pedals, climate control, comfy sports seats – including extendable seat base – quality sound system and smart alloys, starts at just over £18,000.

Diesel sales should dominate, of course, but our car's all-new 220PS (218bhp) 2.0-litre Turbo petrol engine impressed and could become the cult engine to complement the Insignia's taut yet supple chassis, for the Vectra's replacement looks and feels more like a driver's than a 'rep's car'. Do not dismiss without a road test.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

carsforkent.co.uk

USED car prices are set to firm up after being in freefall for several months, but this could still be a good time to snap up one of the three most aspirational cars on the UK market – compact executive models from the German trio of executive marques, BMW, Audi and Mercedes-Benz. In good times, the BMW 3-Series, Audi A4 and Mercedes C-Class hold their value ridiculously well, especially when considering the plentiful used supply, but recessions are a great leveller – and opportunity for those with the necessary cash and desire.

BMW 3-SERIES

REGARDED as the number one compact executive model for driving pleasure and sheer swank value, the 3-Series' crown is threatened by the numbers available plus new pressure from the Audi and Merc and other plausible rivals. There is plenty of choice, from hatchbacks, stylish estates and barnstorming M3 supercars as well as four and two-door stalwarts. Top engines are the classic BMW straight-six petrol and some smooth diesels – especially the 320d.

AUDI A4

AUDI'S ambitious compact executive challenger used to be seen as an also-ran hampered by front-wheel drive rather than the rear-wheel drive used by the rival BMW and Merc. However, the overall rise of Audi and the cachet of its Quattro all-wheel drive versions has turned the A4 into the 'thinking man's choice', though the numbers in circulation may weaken prices. It perennially under-achieves on the driving front, but lacks nothing in prestige.

MERCEDES C-CLASS

MERCEDES-BENZ has put down a marker with the latest C-Class, creating a robust car almost as good to drive as the BMW and arguably better looking than either of its fiercest rivals. Combined with the most prestigious badge of the German trio, this makes the current 'C' sought-after on the nearly new market, though previous generation cars are less so thanks to a period of poorer build and reliability. This means there are bargains diesel estates being the pick.

Should an advertiser wish to use other voice-overs or non-copyright free music, it is the responsibility of the advertiser to pay the PRS rights should they be required to do so. Any changes to or failure to approve the TV production by the deadlines agreed between both parties will result in KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd being given permission by the advertiser to replace the TV commercial with pictures or stills from a choice of photography supplied by the media owner until the advertiser can supply a TV commercial produced at their own cost and risk outside of this agreement. The advertiser also accepts and agrees that this action would not reduce the value or cost of their membership. Any further charges required to the TV commercial throughout the advertiser's agreement will be borne by the advertiser outside of this agreement.
- Each advertiser accepts that their ranking and position within KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd's search engine will be equal to those within their category (Platinum, Gold, Silver, Bronze, etc) other than they will be ranked based on the search engine criteria of optimisation within their level (Platinum, Gold, Silver or Bronze).
- Any delivery claims made by the advertiser or discount vouchers published within the print or online media of KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd and any action as a result of the public or otherwise is the sole responsibility of the advertiser.  - In the event that payment is not received by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd by the due date, the media owner reserves the right to charge interest on all overdue balances calculated on a daily basis at the rate of two per cent above the minimum lending rate of National Westminster Bank Plc from time to time in force.
 - Notwithstanding anything in these terms and conditions or implied to the contrary, in the event of the Advertiser ceasing to use the services of KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd (for whatever reason), the whole amount of monies due from the Advertiser to the date of cessation shall fall due for immediate payment.
 - The Advertiser will be liable for all costs incurred by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd in the recovery of debts not paid by the due date.
 - Payment may be made by cheque, credit transfer, direct debit, cash and any major credit card.
- Any discount which KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd may have agreed with the Advertiser shall be forfeited in the event of failure by the Advertiser to complete the contract or to meet the above credit terms.
- Advertising Agency commission will be allowed to those advertisers recognised by the Newspaper Society, but shall not exceed ten per cent and will be subject to the terms of that recognition. This commission will not be allowed if the Advertising Agency fails to meet the terms.
- All private advertisements and certain categories as laid down by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must be prepaid.
- The Advertiser agrees to indemnify KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd in respect of all costs, damages or other charges falling upon the media owner or any of the companies within the KOS Media Group as the result of legal action or the threatened legal action or threatened legal arising from the publication of any advertisement or advertising promotion.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Enterprising advice scheme extended

A SERVICE to encourage disadvantaged people in the south east to set up their own business has been expanded to reach even more potential entrepreneurs.

The Business Link Enterprise Gateway scheme has already helped more than 300 people from deprived areas set up their own companies and thousands more have received guidance and advice.

It aims to help people facing challenges, or those who haven't realised they have a talent for business and enterprise.

During the last five years it has been available in 16 locations across the south east and now it is covering deprived communities across the whole region.

In Kent, the service spans the county and is particularly focused in areas where entrepreneurial activity is low, such as Medway, the Isle of Sheppey, and selected wards in Sittingbourne and Dover.

Enterprise development manager Jane North said: "Our role is to work with individuals who would not normally consider enterprise as a viable option for them."

"They may have faced redundancy, health problems or just been out of the job market for a long time."

For more information, telephone 0845 600 9006, or visit the website by logging on at www.bringyourideastolife.co.uk.

Save money thanks to BCC and Staples tie-up

IMPORTANT news for people brave enough to start up a business right now: the British Chambers of Commerce (BCC) – the umbrella organisation of local chambers of commerce – and office stationery group Staples have teamed up to launch a extended help-to-go pack.

All start-ups that join the BCC will now receive a 20 per cent discount voucher to spend at their local Staples store.

The pack, which when it was first launched was to help start-ups during their crucial first year, has been extended to take into account the new challenges companies are now facing. Staples have stores across the county.

Julie Maddocks asks: "In business, is small really beautiful?" Search 'crunch'

'Upbeat' county will weather the storm

■ BY TONY PATEY

THERE may not be any strong green shoots of recovery showing in Kent just yet, but there are some warm breezes blowing through the chilly economic climate.

Businesses across the county are reporting that while the credit crunch has taken a bite out of their business, they are – so far at least – weathering the storms better than elsewhere in the UK.

And much of the reason for the region's resilience is being put down to an increasing export market and a confidence both in the current trading environment and in what the future holds.

The Maidstone Economic Development Group of Kent Invicta Chamber of Commerce (KICC) found members were showing greater confidence under current conditions than the South East in general, and nationally.

John Taylor, chairman of the MED Group, said: "While these are challenging times, we are heartened by this positive attitude among our members. Clearly things are not as gloomy in Kent as the national picture would suggest."

David Foley, policy director of the Channel Chamber of Commerce which represents much of the east Kent coast, agreed there were relatively bright areas amid the bleakness.

He said that, with the weak pound, exporters especially were in a good position to fend off the crunch.

"The potential for manufacturers in this area is considerable," he said.

Also firms which had a sound ecological base were doing relatively well because of a change in consumer sentiment, with people wanting more environment-friendly goods.

Mr Foley reckoned the three basic principles of good business were price, good quality and

ROUGH TRADE: Many Kent businesses remain upbeat despite the harsh conditions, local chambers of commerce say service – with service being the clincher in rough trading times.

Peter Hobbs, chief executive of the Channel Chamber, added: "We are seeing lots of small organisations, particularly in the service sector, struggling as their sales begin to tighten."

"As a result they are urgently reviewing their costs and who they buy from, in other words their procurement."

"There are, of course, plenty of opportunities here for local businesses. For example, some local book-keepers and accountants are reporting an uplift in clients."

KICC members in the service sector – rather than manufacturing – are upbeat.

During the three months to December, these members reported a "less dire decline" in both home and export sales than the rest of the South East.

Elsewhere, while order books are dipping and cash-flow worsened, KICC members appear to be performing better than elsewhere in the nation.

Interestingly, their levels of business confidence were higher, which is an important factor in getting the economy back on track.

An equal proportion expected sales to rise in 2009 as to fall and although more expected profits to fall rather than to rise, this gloom was much less widespread than the rest of the South East, despite the fact that more KICC members were carrying spare capacity.

The higher confidence is reflected in pre-December employment, which held steady, unlike the rest of the South East and the UK, and while there were more firms expecting to cut staff than those aiming to hire more, there was less pessimism.

TITLE BOOST: Mo Takaloo (left) joins Hythe Town

Hopes that Takaloo will take Town to title glory

HYTHE Town's Kent League title bid received a major shot in the arm with the signing of hot shot striker Mo Takaloo.

The prolific hitman drops two divisions from the Ryman Premier with Margate to join Paul Fisk's side.

Town lead the Kent League by two points but with last season's top scorer Buster Smissen a long-term injury doubt, Hythe have been forced to rely on goals from midfield to maintain their momentum. However, the signing of Takaloo could be the acquisition needed to help lead Town to promotion to Ryman South.

FOOTBALL

Takaloo arrives with a big reputation and holds the unique distinction of winning the Kent League and golden boot award with two different sides, most recently with Maidstone United in 2005/06. Last season the 29-year-old's goal in a 1-0 victory at Folkestone Invicta helped Maidstone United avoid relegation from the Ryman Premier League.

Folkestone Invicta were also reportedly interested in signing the forward, who began the season at Ramsgate.

Hythe have also put in a seven-day approach for Faversham Town defender Roy Guiver.

This Saturday Fisk's side will play the second leg of their Premier Division Cup quarter-final against Slade Green. Town will not return to Kent League action until a trip to Sevenoaks Town on February 7.

Log on to www.yourshepway.co.uk for a full report of Hythe Town's Premier Division Cup quarter-final first leg against Slade Green.

Attacking tries put Folkestone fourth

A CONVINCING win for Folkestone RFC edged them back into the title race in London South East 4, as they moved up to fourth place.

Once again Folkestone showed their attacking credentials by running in a number of tries on the way to a 37-18 victory against Hastings & Bexhill. The result has put Folkestone back into the title race in fourth place just six points behind leaders Tonbridge Juddian.

This Saturday Folkestone have the chance to keep the pressure on the league leaders when they travel to take on struggling Crowborough who are in the bottom four of the division.

Missed opportunity for New Romney

NEW ROMNEY missed the chance to move up to fourth place in the Kent County League Division One East by finishing on the wrong side of an eight goal thriller.

Clinical finishing proved to be the key to the game as Guru Nanak managed to find the net five times to compound New Romney to a 5-3 defeat.

The result means New Romney have slipped to seventh, but they are five points behind third-placed University of Kent.

This Saturday New Romney host title-chasing AFC Sheppey who have just two defeats to their name so far this season.

MISERABLE AFTERNOON: Nine-man Invicta fell to a disappointing defeat, but Jimmy Dryden scored after agreeing to stay with the club until the end of the season now, so I'm pleased. Jimmy's a proven goalscorer and a local lad, which is exactly what we want here."

Despite the good news Invicta did not get off to the best start on Saturday as Burgess Hill opened the scoring on 37 minutes through Lloyd Cotton.

Nine minutes into the second half Folkestone had a mountain to climb as Steve Harper doubled the home side's advantage.

To add to Folkestone's woes they were reduced to ten men as Kieran Byrne was sent off after picking up a second yellow card for diving.

Folkestone kept plugging away and two minutes from time the visitors were awarded a penalty as Michael Everitt was brought down by goal scorer Cotton. Dryden proved his worth and made no mistake with the spot-kick to reduce the deficit.

However, a chance to salvage a point vanished for Folkestone as Frankie Chappell became the second Invicta player to see red.

Whites say Graz-a-lot for striker's important strike

STRIKES from Giuliano Grazioli and Olly Schulz secured a ninth consecutive league win for Dover Athletic, but they had to endure a nail biting final 15 minutes.

Despite a slow start to the game the Whites opened the scoring through defender Laurence Ball, who was unmarked at the far post to nod past Hastings goalkeeper Greg Nessling.

Andy Hessenthaler's side rarely stamped their authority on the first half, which was an even affair and Frankie Sawyer grabbed an equaliser for Hastings just nine minutes later.

After a stern team talk at the break, Dover showed their true form with two quick-fire goals from Grazioli and Schulz in the second half.

Just before the hour, former Stevenage Borough striker Grazioli pounced, managing to finish off one of Dover's best attacking moves of the game with a well-placed header.

However, Dover's defence held firm to clinch the three points and maintain their 100 per cent home league record.

Hessenthaler was disappointed by the performance of his players and revealed he has set his team a new challenge as they continue to march towards the Ryman Premier League title.

He said: "It's always nervous for everyone when you are winning 3-2 with 15 minutes to go. That said we won the game but once again our performance was nowhere near our best. The players know it and I told them at half-time."

"It is very hard to criticise my players and we have to realise we will not be able to perform at our best week in week out. We are still winning games, which is the main thing, but I have set the boys a challenge now to try and beat our winning run of 13 games earlier this season."

This Saturday the Whites face a tricky Kent derby as they travel to take on Jim Ward's Ramsgate.

celebrating, Schulz leapt highest to flick on a long throw over the frame of Nessling and into the net to increase Dover's lead.

With 18 minutes remaining Hastings set up a nervous end to the game for the Whites with Sawyer grabbing his second goal of the afternoon to cut the deficit to a single goal.

Sharks lose out after being bitten by a late penalty

RUGBY

Dorking 20 Dover 15

A LATE penalty snatched a victory away from Dover in their first game in London 2 South for five weeks.

Dover started well with the advantage of the slope and Martyn Beaumont kicked a penalty after only four minutes on the clock. Dorking responded well and they capitalised on a Dover error to score a try and the conversion followed.

After 19 minutes Buster Collins intercepted a pass deep in the host's half to score a try under the posts which Beaumont converted. The home side levelled the score with a penalty soon after.

The first few minutes of the second half were difficult for Dover but they weathered the storm. However, the hosts took the lead shortly after with a well-taken try and the extras added proved decisive at the final whistle.

Dover scored the next try, which was undoubtedly the pick of the day with hooker Jack Tomlinson driving up the left flank, and following some excellent handling from a number of support players, winger Ben Sedgwick scored to reduce the deficit.

The Sharks gave away a penalty which proved to be their downfall as Dorking converted their chances to clinch the win.

Senior Coach Graham Tonks felt his side coped well against one of the division's best sides but admitted they will have to work harder for victories.

NARROW DEFEAT: Dover were denied a win at the weekend after a late penalty for Dorking saw the Surrey side victorious

He said: "Although disappointed we can take many positives from this game. We competed well throughout, against an extremely good side. We must work that little bit harder to win these narrow encounters."

SENSATION: Dover boss Andy Hessenthaler feels defender Laurence Ball has stepped up his game

Hess describes Ball's performances this season 'sensational'

ANDY Hessenthaler has admitted he has been surprised by how his players have adapted to the Ryman Premier League and in particular the improvement of defender Laurence Ball.

Dover continued their impressive form from last season's surge to the Ryman South title and sit a massive 25 points ahead of nearest rivals Staines Town at the top of the Ryman Premier.

The Whites have lost just three times in the league and boss Hessenthaler is shocked by what his side have achieved, but insists their form has to continue.

He said: "If someone had told me that we would be 25 points clear at the start of the season I would not have believed it. I am surprised by how my side have coped with the step up to the Ryman Premier, but the important thing is we have got to keep pushing. Nothing is won in January and until it is mathematically possible we have won, we will then start to celebrate."

One player who has caught the attention of the Dover supporters and Hessenthaler this season is Laurence Ball. The central defender was a fringe player last season playing mostly in the reserves, but this term he has come to the fore, regularly an important feature in the Dover defence.

He added: "Laurence has probably been one of the sensations of the season. I suppose he probably thought he was not going to play many games this season with Dean Hill and Olly Schulz coming in during the summer but he has surprised me."

"He has really stepped up to the plate. He will be a bit frustrated in recent weeks as we have let in a few goals but he has improved a lot this season and is a nice lad to have around at the club."

CAMP INDIA: Kent Academy director Phil Relf

Future pace bowlers all set for Indian camp

FOUR of Kent's brightest young bowlers have an opportunity to be coached by Australian legend Dennis Lillee at the world renowned MRF pace bowling camp in India.

Two Academy players and two players on development contracts at the St Lawrence Ground are being given a chance to learn and hone their skills thanks to contributions from the Kent Supporters Club and Kent member Charlie Harris.

Academy players Matt Coles, 18, who plays his cricket with Hartley Country Club and Adam Ball, 15, from Bexley will be heading to Chennai, together with development contract players Phil Edwards, 24, from Gore Court and Warren Lee, 21, from Blackheath.

Academy director Phil Relf, who will be leading the group to India, said it will be a big opportunity for Kent's future pace bowlers and that it couldn't have been done without the two benefactors.

"Indian conditions are demanding with the climate and different wickets so it will be a steep learning curve," he said. "We want to get as much time with Dennis Lillee as possible as that will be a valuable experience."

They leave for the ten day trip on Friday. If you'd like to help sponsor the Academy, contact Phil Relf on 01227 456886.
